

Church Prayer Meeting (10 May 2020)

Dear True Lifers

Since church services have been suspended due to the Circuit Breaker (CB) which kicked in last month, our church prayer meeting (CPM) has been decentralised to the fellowship groups. I think it is time we regather to restart our weekly CPM albeit virtually.

I have attended and spoken to a few fellowship groups via Zoom and am now more familiar with how it works. I think our CPM can be conducted in this way while the CB is on. Although it is not as good as meeting and praying together in one another's physical company, we just have to make do given the current situation. The government has already indicated that religious meetings will not be allowed any time soon. We will not wait for the CB to end; let us start praying together now. Our Lord has instructed us not to faint but to pray always (Luke 18:1).

Our first online CPM will be held on Friday May 15 at 7.45pm. I pray many of you will join the meeting.

Dn Kay Heem will host the meeting via Zoom. He will send you instructions on how to download the app and how to log in. He will also send you certain ground rules to observe during the CPM. I would urge you to check in 10 to 15 minutes before the meeting starts. When you log in, you should ensure your video is turned on. I would like our CPM to be a virtual face-to-face meeting. Having not seen each other for so long, I would like very much to see your face and be encouraged by your presence. I am sure many others feel the same. During testimony time, you will have a chance to share your thanksgiving or any prayer item you might have (try to keep it short and sweet). There is a "raise your hand" button you can press to indicate your desire to be heard.

Let us pray that our CPM can be implemented smoothly and successfully and may we have a blessed time of worship, fellowship, Bible study and prayer. See you on Friday. In the meantime, keep safe in the Lord.

Yours affectionately

Pastor Jeffrey Khoo
